

SlideManager® Online Presentation Management For businesses that use a lot of PowerPoint®

Imagine a system that you can access online anywhere, anytime and build a custom PowerPoint® presentation in two minutes or less. One that intelligently delivers slides precisely tailored for your audience. Slides that are always the latest version and are managed by a story builder that stays on message and keeps your brand intact. Imagine SlideManager® for PowerPoint.

SlideManager® is the award winning slide management software from Media Marketing. With it you can maintain an online slide library of any size and organize slides into nested categories and topics to control story flow—empowering your content to meet the precise needs of a diverse presenter group.

Your presentations will be compelling for your audience and their ROI will be measurable for your business.

SlideManager® is not a slide sorter on the web or a complicated document management system. It is specifically designed to manage PowerPoint slides into the computers of your presenters. PowerPoint was designed for individuals; we manage it for businesses. Businesses that need to share and reuse slides and presentations while keeping their brand intact.

We understand PowerPoint at its deepest level. We allow you to separate content from design so that you can reuse slides and brand presentations on the fly. Slides can be edited once, and updated in very location they exist in your library. Our search engine automatically indexes every word, number and speaker note along with your own keywords. Slides can be changed and repurposed into an unlimited number of libraries so that only one version of a slide exists worldwide.

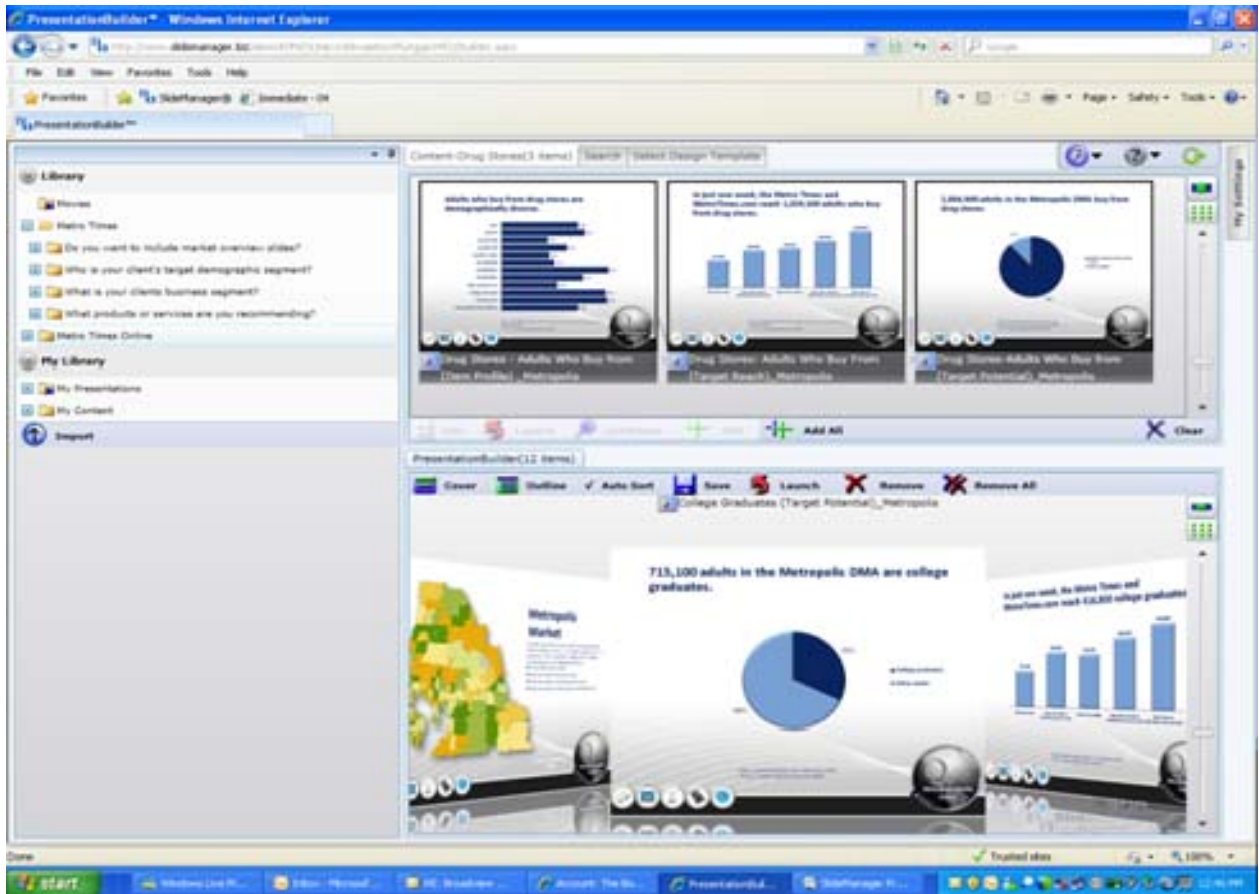

Key capabilities

- A sequence of slides can be locked down and cannot be changed by the presenter.
- A single slide can be changed and every show containing the slide is automatically updated.
- Every slide has embedded revision dates for easy version control.
- Presentation history is tracked by slide, date and presenter for ROI and CRM reporting.

Build a presentation in less than two minutes. Online.

Now is a good time to redefine the company library.

Presentations stored on laptop computers get old in a hurry. E-mailing presentations back and forth and mixing and matching slides don't always result in the custom presentation you need to close business or service an account. Branding can lose consistency and issues like regulatory compliance can be hard to manage.

SlideManager® gives you an intelligent online slide library to manage slides into presentations that work, with the piece of mind that your presenters will have fresh slides that tell the story you want, with the control you need.

SlideManager® stores your slides in a library of nested topics that are intuitive to the presenter.

They can quickly build presentations in a single screen by selecting slides and locked slide sets that tailor their presentation for any audience. Each presenter group can have a custom library with only the slides they need, in categories they understand. Presentations can be saved to a local computer or presented directly from the system.

SlideManager® can get your presentations under control and your ROI on track. It's easy to use and affordable. SlideManager® is licensed as a service and requires no IT investment, and in most cases we can have your system online in forty-eight hours or less.
